FRENCH 19TH CENTURY PAINTED CONSOLE TABLE WITH CARVED APRON AND WHITE MARBLE TOP

$12,600

A French Neoclassical style painted console table from the 19th century with white veined marble top, carved apron and fluted legs. Immersed in the elegance of the French Neoclassical style, this 19th-century console table beautifully harmonizes form and function. A white veined marble top rests gracefully atop an intricately carved apron, where floral and foliage motifs bloom within petite beaded medallions. Above, a delicate egg-and-dart frieze adds a layer of classical sophistication. The table's slender, tapering legs, adorned with fluted detailing, exude grace and stability, connecting seamlessly through an arching cross stretcher enriched with discreet guilloche motifs. Painted in a serene, soft hue, this piece enhances the Neoclassical aesthetic, making it a timeless addition to any modern home. Ideal for an entryway or living room, it serves not just as a platform for artful displays but as a statement piece that bridges the past and present. Whether used to showcase family heirlooms, contemporary art, or as a functional surface beneath a mirror, this console table infuses any space with refined beauty and historical depth.
