FRENCH TURN OF THE CENTURY SLIPPER CHAIR WITH TURNED WOODEN LEGS, CIRCA 1900

$2,600

A French Turn of the Century slipper chair from circa 1900 with muslin upholstery and turned wooden legs on casters in the front. This French Turn of the Century slipper chair, dating back to around 1900, is a charming embodiment of classic elegance and timeless design. Upholstered in a neutral muslin fabric, it serves as a versatile canvas, allowing you to tailor its look to your unique style and interior decor.

The graceful out-scrolling backrest and turned wooden legs, complete with casters at the front, are exquisite details that harken back to a bygone era of craftsmanship. These elements not only enhance the chair's aesthetic appeal but also contribute to its functionality and mobility.

In your home, this slipper chair can serve multiple purposes. Place it in your living room as an extra seating option, where its refined design and cozy comfort make it ideal for both daily relaxation and entertaining guests. Alternatively, position it in your bedroom as a sophisticated accent chair or a comfortable spot for reading or dressing.

With its blend of vintage charm and contemporary potential, this French Turn of the Century slipper chair is more than just furniture; it's an embodiment of enduring style and tasteful customization. Embrace its classic allure, tailor it to your preferences, and let it grace your home with elegance and comfort for years to come. The seat is 19" deep.
