

PAIR OF ENGLISH REGENCY 19TH CENTURY CONSOLE TABLES WITH VENEERED TOPS

$10,800

A pair of English Regency period wooden console tables from the 19th century with veneered top, curving legs, arching feet and spindle shaped cross stretchers. This pair of English Regency period wooden console tables, dating back to the 19th century, effortlessly captures the essence of refined sophistication and timeless elegance that defined the era. Each table showcases a harmonious blend of design elements, which come together to create a captivating aesthetic that speaks to their rich heritage.

The veneered top of each console table is a testament to the artisan's skill. This visually arresting detail adds an air of refinement to the tables, setting the stage for their other impressive features. Graceful curving legs support the tables, their gently arching lines offering a sense of movement and fluidity that perfectly complements the overall design. These legs are anchored by equally elegant arching feet, which provide a stable and visually appealing foundation. Uniting the legs is a spindle-shaped cross stretcher, a delightful detail that adds an extra layer of interest and structural integrity to the tables. This pair of 19th-century English Regency period wooden console tables is a wonderful example of the elegance and finesse that characterized the era. With their veneered tops, curving legs, arching feet, and spindle-shaped cross stretchers, these tables make a statement of refined taste and enduring style that would be a remarkable addition to any space.

Height: 28.5 in (72.39 cm)

Width: 25.25 in (64.14 cm)

Depth: 15.25 in (38.74 cm)

SKU: A 4429