PAIR OF ITALIAN 1800S BAROQUE STYLE WALNUT DEMILUNES WITH CARVED STRETCHERS

$24,500

A pair of Italian Baroque style walnut demi-lune console tables from the early 19th century, with semi-circular tops, turned legs and carved stretchers. Created in Italy during the first quarter of the 19th century, each of this pair of demi-lune tables charms us with their elegant Baroque style silhouettes. They each feature a large semi-circular top with rounded edges, sitting above three beautiful turned baluster legs on rectangular block joints. These legs are connected to one another through Baroque style carved stretchers with molded accents and scrolling lines. The ensemble is resting on petite bun feet. They are in a very good condition with signs of aging typical on pieces this age. With their elegant lines and lovely walnut patina, this pair of Italian Baroque style demi-lune tables from the 19th century will bring a touch of undeniable elegance to any home, perhaps displayed in a foyer or in a living room, on each side of a fireplace!
