

WALNUT 19TH CENTURY ITALIAN DEMI-LUNE TABLE WITH BANDING AND FLUTED LEGS

$4,500

An Italian Neoclassical style walnut demi-lune table from the 19th century with single drawer and door, thin banding, carved skirt and fluted legs. Immerse yourself in the graceful elegance of this Italian Neoclassical style walnut demi-lune table from the 19th century, a piece that beautifully marries classical design elements with the warmth of walnut wood. This table, with its single drawer and door, thin black banding, intricately carved skirt, and fluted tapering legs, is a testament to the refined craftsmanship and aesthetic sensibility of the era. The demi-lune, or half-moon shape offers a classic and sophisticated silhouette. The single drawer and door provide discreet and practical storage, making the table both functional and elegant. The thin black banding creates a striking contrast against the warm walnut, highlighting the piece's clean lines and graceful curves. The skirt is adorned with geometric motifs, alternating with rosettes on the knees, adding a decorative flourish that enhances the table's neoclassical appeal. The fluted legs, gracefully tapering, lend a sense of architectural elegance and stability to the design. The hardware on the drawer and door is elegantly ornate, providing a luxurious touch to the piece. In a contemporary home, this Neoclassical style demi-lune table serves as a sophisticated addition to a living room, entryway, or bedroom. Its classical design and practical features make it a versatile piece, perfect for displaying decorative items, serving as a bedside table, or providing extra storage. The table's timeless design and exquisite detailing make it a cherished addition to any interior, adding a touch of 19th-century Italian elegance and the beauty of Neoclassical craftsmanship to your space.
